5.1 Approximate number of people expected to be actively involved in the development of this project: 20

5.2.a. Scope of the complete standard: This standard specifies Bridges that interconnect individual LANs, each supporting the IEEE 802 MAC

Service using a different or identical media access control method, to provide Bridged Networks and VLANs.

5.2.b. Scope of the project: This amendment specifies a Unified Modeling Language (UML)-based information model and YANG data models that allow configuration and status reporting for bridges and bridge components (as specified by this standard) with the capabilities currently specified in clauses 12.29 (scheduled traffic), 12.30 (frame preemption) and 12.31 (per-stream filtering and policing) of this standard. It further defines the relationship between the information and data model and models for the other management capabilities specified in this standard. Additionally, this amendment will address open IEEE 802.1Qbv, IEEE 802.1Qbu and IEEE 802.1Qci maintenance items.

5.3 Is the completion of this standard dependent upon the completion of another standard: Yes

If yes please explain:

5.4 Purpose: Bridges, as specified by this standard, allow the compatible interconnection of information technology equipment attached to separate individual LANs.

5.5 Need for the Project: YANG (RFC 7950) is a formalized data modeling language that is widely accepted and can be used to simplify network configuration. The ability to manage Scheduled Traffic, Frame Preemption, and Per-Stream Filtering and Policing via YANG models is needed for compatibility with modern network management systems.

5.6 Stakeholders for the Standard: Developers, providers, and users of networking services and equipment.

7.1 Are there other standards or projects with a similar scope?: No

7.2 Joint Development

Is it the intent to develop this document jointly with another organization?: No

8.1 Additional Explanatory Notes: #2.1 While 'YANG' (developed by the IETF) appears to be an acronym its expansion 'Yet Another Next Generation' is not meaningful. It is vital that 'YANG' appear in the project title to inform potential participants and the target readership of the amendment.
